AN EYE-OPENING EXPERIENCE

Tomorrow's Stars Basketball

American sports and basketball differ significantly from Australian standards in that many American families depend on it as the sole way to fund tuition costs associated with their child's activities. While education plays an integral part in shaping American lifestyle and career choices, Americans have great pride in sports and take competition seriously. Tour participants will get to experience first hand American and basketball culture by meeting American families and playing against American athletes. Many players view our tour experience as pivotal, with our Tomorrow's Stars basketballers feeling empowered, motivated, and dedicated to becoming their very best selves.
